SYNOPSIS OF ACT

DOCUMENTS
DEPT.

A New Code of Law.

The Workmen's Compensation Act was passed by the Ontario Legislature on 1st May, 1914, and became operative as respects payment of compensation on 1st January, 1915.

A number of amendments were made to it on 8th April, 1915, relating chiefly to matters of detail and not involving any change in principle.

The Act was framed by Sir William Meredith, the present Chief Justice of Ontario, and embodies what may be described as a new code of law respecting compensation for accidents to workmen.

Employments Covered.

The part of the Act which is to be administered by the Board is called Part I. It does not apply to all employments, but it applies to employments in the very large number of industries enumerated in Schedule 1 and Schedule 2, chief among which are manufacturing, building, construction, lumbering, mining quarrying, transportation, navigation, operation of public utilities, etc.

The distinction between the two Schedules is that as to employers in the industries in Schedule 1 the Board levies an assessment and collects an accident fund out of which the compensation to workmen is paid, the employers in this Schedule not being individually liable to pay the compensation; while as to employers in Schedule 2, no accident fund is collected from them, but they are individually liable to pay the compensation as each accident occurs.

When Compensation Payable.

The compensation for the injury is payable irrespective of any question of negligence or absence of negligence, and the old defences of common employment and voluntary assumption of risk are no longer applicable. The only cases in which compensation is not payable, provided the accident arises out of and in the course of the employment, are:

- (1) Where the disability lasts less than seven days;

- (2) Where the accident is attributable solely to the serious and wilful misconduct of the workman and does not result in death or serious disablement.

No agreement to forego the benefits of the Act is valid; no part of the amount payable to the accident fund by the employer is to be charged against the workman; and the compensation cannot be assigned, charged, or attached, except with the approval of the Board.

An employer in Schedule 1 may carry himself on his wage list at a reasonable salary, not exceeding $2,000 per annum, and if he makes return to the Board accordingly he or his dependants will be entitled to compensation as in the case of an ordinary workman.

Compensation is to be paid for the industrial diseases specified in the Act as well as for accidents.

The provisions of the Act respecting compensation are in lieu of the right of action for damages at law.

Scale of Compensation.

The scale of compensation is fixed by the Act.

If the accident results in death and the workman leaves a widow but no children, the widow is entitled during life or widowhood to a payment of $20 a month.

If he leaves a widow and children the payment to the widow is $20 a month and $5 a month for each child under 16 years of age, but not exceeding $40 in all.

If he leaves children only, the payment is $10 a month for each child under 16, but not exceeding $40 in all.

Where the dependants are persons other than those above mentioned, they are entitled to a sum reasonable and proportionate to the pecuniary loss occasioned to them by the workman's death, but not exceeding to the parent or parents $20 a month, or in the whole $30 a month.

All the above is governed, however, by the provision that in no case is the compensation to exceed 55 per cent. of the workman's earnings in the employment; and all provisions for compensation are subject to the proviso that the earnings of a workman shall not in any case be reckoned at more than $2,000 a year.

The necessary expenses of burial, not exceeding $75, are also in all cases to be paid, and where there are no dependants reasonable expenses of medical attendance, nursing, care and maintenance are also to be paid.

Where a widow marries again the periodical payment ceases on her marriage, but she is entitled within a month after her marriage to a lump sum equal to two years' payments.

Where the accident results in total disability of the workman, he is entitled during the continuance of the disability, whether for life or temporarily, to a weekly or monthly payment equal to 55 per cent. of his earnings in the employment.

Where the workman is only partially disabled he is entitled to 55 per cent. of the impairment of his earning capacity.

An important feature of the compensation under the Act is that it is payable periodically rather than in a lump sum, and as a rule it continues during disability or during life, as the case may be.

Where the impairment of earning capacity does not exceed 10 per cent. the compensation is to be fixed by the Board at a lump sum, unless the Board thinks it is not to the advantage of the workman to do so; and the Board may in other cases fix the compensation at a lump sum if it sees fit, or may in cases of special need make lump sum advances without entirely commuting the compensation.

Settling Compensation.

All questions as to right to compensation and the amount of it are to be determined by the Board and its officers instead of in the Courts.

The employer is required by the Act to notify the Board, within three days, of any accident happening to a workman in his employ which disables the workman from earning full wages.

The workman must, as soon as practicable and before voluntarily leaving the employ, give notice of the accident to the employer, and, where the compensation is payable out of the accident fund (being in all cases under Schedule 1), also to the Board, and must make claim for compensation within six months.

Forms supplied by the Board are required to be filled up by the workman, by the employer, and by the doctor, where one has been in attendance, and forwarded to the Board, and from the particulars given in these reports, and from an examination by a medical referee chosen by the Board, where that is deemed necessary, the Board will deal with the claim, award payment, make further investigation, or take such other action as seems proper.

How New Law Differs from Old.

Some respects in which the new law differs from the old may be mentioned.

(1) Under the old law an injured workman, or the dependants of a deceased workman, had no right to recover anything unless negligence or breach of duty of the employer could be proved. If he was himself guilty of negligence contributing to the accident he could not recover. If he was injured by the negligence of a fellow-workman, or if it was a case in which he was presumed to have voluntarily assumed the risks of the employment, he was also barred from recovery. Under the new law none of these things is of any consequence. The new law recognizes that the misfortune of a crippled workman or the needs of his widow or children are not any less because he was at fault or someone else was not at fault, and it provides that the workman or his dependants are to be entitled to compensation irrespective of negligence or any other circumstance, except only, as before mentioned, that the accident must not be attributable solely to his own serious and wilful misconduct; and even where it is attributable solely to his serious and wilful misconduct he or his dependants will still be entitled if the accident results in serious disablement or death.

(2) Under the old law the compensation was a lump sum fixed by the jury or by the judge, varying greatly in different cases. Under the new law there is greater certainty and a more equitable rule as to the amount. A very important feature of difference in the new law is the periodical continued payment instead of a lump sum in settlement of damages. Often lump sums in damages recovered by a widow or other dependants have been badly invested, fritted away, or otherwise lost, and the widow and children perhaps in the end left without support. The policy of the new Act is to provide continued support.

(3) Under the old law if the employer and the employee did not agree upon a settlement the remedy was an action at law. This often meant long and expensive litigation, loss of time, and annoyance, and perhaps in the end not a very satisfactory result. The ordinary workman would often prefer to do without damages or compensation rather than undertake the trouble and expense; and perhaps he did not have the money and could not proceed without it. On the other hand, in many cases, claims for damages would be brought against employers without just grounds, and litigation and expense would be entailed; and often the employer, rather than fight the lawsuit, would settle. In this way the old system of recovering damages by lawsuit was unsatisfactory and oppressive to one or both parties. Those who deserved compensation most often got nothing, while some not entitled harassed employers with vexatious actions. Under the new law all matters as to the right to and the amount of compensation are settled by the Board with little or no expense to the parties and without any appeal. Employers in Schedule 1 will no longer be liable to pay or to be sued for damages, but will be liable only to contribute to the fund out of which the compensation is to be paid.

Collection of Accident Fund.

All employers in the industries in Schedule 1 are required, without notice, and subject to penalty in case of default, to prepare and transmit to the Board statements of the amount of wages paid and expected to be paid by them. Assessments are levied for such sums as are deemed necessary for each class of industry, and after receiving notice of assessment employers must transmit the amount to the Board in accordance with the terms of the notice. Employers failing to make pay roll returns may be assessed for such sum as the Board deems right. In case of failure to pay any assessment judgment may be entered in the County or District Court, or other means of enforcing payment may be taken, and while in default the employer will also be liable for the compensation payable in respect of any accidents to workmen in his employ. If any employer is for any reason not assessed, he is nevertheless liable to pay the amount for which he should have been assessed. Audits of pay roll statements will be made by the officers of the Board from time to time, and errors in amount or classification or otherwise will be corrected.

Employers commencing any industry after an assessment has been made are required forthwith, under penalty, to notify the Board of the fact, and security may be required in the case of any industry carried on only temporarily.

A person letting work to be done by contract is responsible for seeing that the contractor and any sub-contractor pay their proper assessment, and if he fails to do so is himself personally liable to the Board for it.

Wherever any employer included in Schedule 1 would be entitled to a lien under The Mechanics' and Wage Earners' Lien Act, it is the duty of the owner as defined by that Act to see that assessments are paid by such employer, and if he fails to do so the owner will be personally liable to pay them to the Board.

Employers in the industries included in Schedule 2 are not required to contribute to the accident fund, but as accidents occur from time to time they must pay the compensation fixed by the Board. They are, however, to be assessed for contribution to the expenses of administration.

Accident Prevention.

Employers in the industries included in any class may form themselves into an association for accident prevention and may make rules for that purpose, and when such rules are approved by the Board and by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council they shall be binding upon all the employers in the class. Such an association may, in accordance with such rules, appoint an inspector or expert for accident prevention, and his salary may be paid in whole or in part by the Board, and the Board may make a grant toward the expenses of any such association.

Committee of Employers.

Employers in any class in Schedule 1 may appoint a committee of not more than five of their number to watch over their interests and to approve payment of claims or act as a medium of communication with the Board.

Part II of the Act.

Though not covered by the new code of law and not under the jurisdiction of the Board, it may be mentioned that, with the exception of farm laborers and menial and domestic servants, workmen omitted or excluded from Schedule 1 and Schedule 2 have, by Part II of the Act, had their right of action in the ordinary courts extended by the taking away of the employers' defences of common employment and assumed risk and by making contributory negligence only a ground for reduction of damages instead of a bar to recovery, and these workmen are thus in a better position than under the old law.

Further Information.

For full particulars as to what industries and what employers and workmen are covered by Part I of the Act, Schedule 1 and Schedule 2 (which will be found in their amended form at the end of the Act) should be referred to; and with them should be read sections 109, 69 (2), 2 (2), 3 (4), 6, 11, 12, 75, and paragraphs (p), (n), (d), (i), (k) and (f) of 2 (1), and Regulations 43 to 50, 52, 53 and 63. A circular, known as Circular 3, contains this information in more convenient form.

For more complete information upon other points the Act should also be perused.

Where employer carried on pay roll he and dependants entitled to compensation.

12. Where compensation is payable out of the accident fund and an employer carries himself on his pay roll at a salary or wage which the Board deems reasonable, but not exceeding the rate of $2,000 per annum, and includes such salary or wages in his then last statement furnished to the Board under section 78, such employer shall be deemed to be a workman within the meaning of this Act, and he or his dependants shall be entitled to compensation accordingly, but for the purpose of determining the compensation his earnings shall not be taken to be more than the amount of his salary or wages as shown by such pay roll and statement. (As amended by s. 7, c. 24, 1915).

No action to be brought to recover compensation.

13. No action shall lie for the recovery of the compensation whether it is payable by the employer individually or out of the accident fund, but all claims for compensation shall be heard and determined by the Board.

Provisions of Act in lieu of

15.—(1) The provisions of this Part shall be in lieu of all rights and rights of action, statutory or otherwise, to

Payment of compensation out of reserves or Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Sufficiency of accident fund to be maintained.

71. It shall be the duty of the Board at all times to maintain the accident fund so that with the reserves, exclusive of the special reserve, it shall be sufficient to meet all the payments to be made out of the fund in respect of compensation as they become payable and so as not unduly or unfairly to burden the employers in any class in future years with payments which are to be made in those years in respect of accidents which have previously happened.

Reserve funds.

72.—(1) Subject to section 91 it shall not be obligatory upon the Board to provide and maintain a reserve fund which shall at all times be equal to the capitalized value of the payments of compensation which will become due in future years unless the Board shall be of opinion that it is necessary to do so in order to comply with the provisions of section 71.

(2) It shall not be necessary that the reserve fund shall be uniform as to all classes but subject to sections 71 and 91 it shall be discretionary with the Board to provide for a larger reserve fund in one or more of the classes than in another or others of them.

Apportionment of burden of assessment according to hazard of business, etc.

(3) Separate accounts shall be kept of the amounts collected and expended in respect of every class and sub-class, but for the purpose of paying compensation the accident fund shall, nevertheless, be deemed one and indivisible. Separate accounts to be kept for each class and sub-class.

(4) Where a greater number of accidents has happened in any industry than in the opinion of the Board ought to have happened if proper precautions had been taken for the prevention of accidents in it, or where in the opinion of the Board the ways, works, machinery or appliances in any industry are defective, inadequate or insufficient the Board may so long as such condition in its opinion continues to exist add to the amount of any contribution to the accident fund for which an employer is liable in respect of such industry such a percentage thereof as the Board may deem just and may assess and levy the same upon such employer, or the Board may exclude such industry from the class in which it is included, and if it is so excluded the employer shall be individually liable to pay the compensation to which any of his workmen or their dependants may thereafter become entitled and such industry shall be included in Schedule 2. Varying amounts of assessment in certain cases.

(5) Any additional percentage levied and collected under the next preceding subsection shall be added to the accident fund or applied in reduction of the assessment upon the other employers in the class or sub-class to which the employer from whom it is collected belongs as the Board may determine. elect to become

Board may relieve from penalty.

(2) The Board if satisfied that the inaccuracy of the statement was not intentional and that the employer honestly desired to furnish an accurate statement, may relieve him from the payment of the penalty provided for by subsection 1 or any part of it.

Board to have right to inspect premises of employer.

81.—(1) The Board and any member of it and any officer or person authorized by it for that purpose shall have the right at all reasonable hours to enter into the establishment of any employer who is liable to contribute to the accident fund and the premises connected with it and every part of them for the purpose of ascertaining whether the ways, works, machinery or appliances therein are safe, adequate and sufficient and whether all proper precautions are taken for the prevention of accidents to the workmen employed in or about the establishment or premises and whether the safety appliances or safeguards prescribed by law are used and employed therein, or for any other purpose which the Board may deem necessary for the purpose of determining the proportion in which such employer should contribute to the accident fund.

84.—(1) The Board shall before the day named by proclamation as mentioned in section 3 make a provisional assessment on the employers in each class of such sum as in the opinion of the Board will be sufficient to meet the claims for compensation which will be payable by that class for the first year after the day so named and to meet the expenses of the Board in the administration of this Part for the year, and also to provide a reserve fund to pay the compensation payable in future years in respect of claims in that class for accidents happening in that year, of such an amount as the Board may deem necessary to prevent the employers in future years from being unduly or unfairly burdened with payments which are to be made in those years in respect of accidents which have previously happened. Provisional assessment.

(2) The sums to be so assessed may be either a percentage of the pay rolls of the employers or a specific sum as the Board may determine. How assessment may be based.

(Subsection 3 of s. 84 repealed by s. 22, c. 24, 1915.)

85.—(1) The Board shall in every year thereafter assess and levy upon the employers in each of the classes such percentage of pay roll or such other rate or such specific sum as, allowing for any surplus or deficit in the class, it shall deem sufficient to pay the compensation during the current year in respect of injuries to workmen in the industries within the class, and to provide and pay the expenses of the Board in the administration of this Part for that year or so much thereof as may not be otherwise provided for, and also to provide a similar reserve fund to that mentioned in subsection 1 of section 84; and such assessments may, if the Board sees fit, be levied provisionally upon the estimate of pay roll given by the employer or upon an estimate fixed by the Board and, after the actual pay roll has been ascertained, adjusted to the correct amount; and the payment of assessments may, Subsequent assessments.

Assessments need not be uniform.

(3) It shall not be necessary that the assessment upon the employers in a class or sub-class shall be uniform, but they may be fixed or graded in relation to the hazard of each or of any of the industries included in the class or sub-class.

Rate of assessment to be fixed by the Board.

86.—(1) The Board shall determine and fix the percentage, rate or sum for which each employer is assessed under the provisions of either of the next preceding two sections, or the provisional amount thereof, and such employer shall pay to the Board the amount or provisional amount of his assessment within fifteen days after notice of the assessment and of such amount has been given to him, or where payment is to be made by instalments he shall pay the first instalment within such fifteen days and the remaining instalment or instalments at the time or times specified in such notice. (Added by s. 24 (c), c. 24, 1915).

Insufficient assessment to be made up by supplementary assessments.

87. If the amount realized from any assessment is insufficient for the purpose for which the assessment was made, the Board may make supplementary assessments to make up the deficiency, and section 86 shall apply to such assessments, but the Board may defer assessing for such deficiency until the next annual assessment is made and then include it in such assessment. (As amended by s. 25, c. 24, 1915).

88.—(1) Where any deficiency in the amount realized from any assessment in any class is caused by the failure of some of the employers in that class to pay their share of the assessment or by any disaster or other circumstance which, in the opinion of the Board, would unfairly burden the employers in that class, the deficiency or loss shall be made up by supplementary assessments upon the employers in all the classes and the provisions of section 86 shall apply to such assessments, but the Board may defer assessing for such deficiency or loss until the next annual assessment is made and then include it in such assessment. (As amended by s. 26 (a), (b), c. 24, 1915.)

(2) The Board may where it deems proper add to the assessment for any class or classes or for all the classes in Schedule 1 a percentage or sum for the purpose of raising a special fund to be laid aside and used to meet the loss arising from any disaster or other circumstance which, in the opinion of the Board, would unfairly burden the employers in any class. (Added by s. 26 (c), c. 24, 1915.)

Employer liable to pay unpaid sums.

Lieutenant-Governor in Council may require supplementary assessments to be made.

91. Whenever the Lieutenant-Governor in Council is of opinion that the condition of the accident fund is such that with the reserves, exclusive of the special reserve, it is not sufficient to meet all the payments to be made in respect of compensation as they become payable and so as not unduly or unfairly to burden the employers in any class in future years with payments which are to be made in those years in respect of accidents which have happened in previous years, he may require the Board to make a supplementary assessment of such sum as in his opinion is necessary to be added to the fund, and when such a requirement is made the Board shall forthwith make such supplementary assessment and it shall be made in like manner as is hereinbefore provided as to other special assessments and all the provisions of this Part as to special assessments shall apply to it.

(2) The Board, if satisfied that such default was excusable, may in any case relieve such employer in whole or in part from liability under this section. (Added by s. 27, c. 24, 1915).

98. In the case of a work or service performed by an employer in any of the industries for the time being included in Schedule 1 for which the employer would be entitled to a lien under The Mechanics' and Wage Earners' Lien Act it shall be the duty of the owner as defined by that Act to see that any sum which the employer is liable to contribute to the accident fund is paid and if any such owner fails to do so he shall be personally liable to pay it to the Board, and the Board shall have the like powers and be entitled to the like remedies for enforcing payment as it possesses or is entitled to in respect of an assessment.

SYNOPSIS OF REGULATIONS

Up to 15th May, 1915, 64 Regulations in all have been passed by the Board and approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, each clause or section, for convenience, being numbered as a separate Regulation.

Except No. 1, which extended the time within which employers were required to furnish their first pay roll statement; No. 47, which applies the interpretation clauses of the Act to the Regulations; No. 51, which provides for penalty in case of default in paying assessments; Nos. 56 and 59, which prescribe the manner in which compensation is to be paid by employers in Schedule 2; and No. 64, which provides for posting up information concerning the Act—all these Regulations have to do with the classification of industries in Schedule 1, and with additions to, exclusions from, or interpretation of the Schedules.

A number of industries, including as far as could be foreseen those comprised in the general description of Section 73, have been added to their appropriate classes in Schedule 1.

To insure better protection for the payment of compensation, and for greater uniformity, the construction or operation by telephone companies of telephone lines and works within the legislative authority of the Province has been removed from Schedule 2 to Schedule 1.

To avoid, as far as possible, weakness in any of the classes and consequent danger of deficits in the class funds, a number of the classes in Schedule 1 have been united, thus reducing the original 44 classes to 35.

For greater certainty in making clear what was understood to be the intention of the Act, mercantile business, stock-raising, fruit-growing, gardening, hotel-keeping, barber shops, educational, hospital, surgical, medical and veterinary work, dentistry, undertaking, etc., have been expressly excluded from the operation of Part I (see Regulation 43); as also have such operations as coffee grinding, meat cutting, pipe cutting, and boot and shoe making and repairing, when carried on as part of, in immediate connection with, and for the purposes of an exclusively retail business (see Regulation 44).

In other cases where the hazard of the work was considered very light, or where it was considered a matter of practical impossibility, at least in the early stages of the administration of the Act, to obtain the names of and collect assessments from all the employers in the industry, and where the other employers in the industry would thus be unfairly burdened with the whole expense, a number of exclusions have been made. Among these are hand laundries, window cleaning, cab, livery stable, architect and photograph businesses, work carried on as part of, in immediate connection with, and for the purpose of an exclusively retail business dealing in men's and women's clothing (including merchant tailor and millinery shops) and the trimming of women's hats when carried on as part of or incidental to a wholesale millinery business (see Regulation 43).

For similar reasons, manufacture of cheese, butter, feathers, or artificial flowers, confectioneries, bakeries, power laundries certain prospecting and development work, operation of threshing machines, street cleaning, etc., have been excluded where less than six workmen are usually employed (see Regulation 45).

Machine shops, repair shops, cabinet work (in shop), upholstering, etc., when not incidental to an industry in Schedule 1, are excluded where less than four workmen are usually employed (see Regulation 46).

As to the exclusions mentioned in the last two paragraphs, it is to be remembered, however, that any employer excluded because of having less than a specified number of workmen employed may nevertheless elect to come under Schedule 1 if he chooses (section 75 (2)).

The operation of freight or passenger elevators, which was originally included in every case, is excluded where not in an industry in Schedule 1, if no workman is specially employed for such operation (see Regulations 31, 55).

To preclude the contention that because an employer carries on one industry which is under Part I of the Act, other separate industries carried on by the same employer, even though not otherwise under Part I, are thereby brought under Part I of the Act—that because an employer, for instance, carries on a grist mill which is under Part I of the Act, a grocery store carried on by the same employer as a separate business will also come under Part I of the Act—it is expressly provided that such shall not be the case (see Regulation 48).

To make clear what was believed to be the intention of the Act, it is declared that an incidental service for which no direct charge is made to the customer, such as delivery of material in connection with a planing mill, or delivery of goods in connection with a grocery store, shall be considered as going with the business to which it is attached, and shall be included in or excluded from Schedule 1, according as the business is so included or excluded (see Regulation 49). Upon the other hand, work or service for which a direct charge is made and which is connected with but not a part of an industry carried on by the employer who renders it, is declared to be included in Schedule 1, if such work or service would, if carried on by itself, be included in Schedule 1 (see Regulation 50). These provisions, however, are subject to the provisions of any other Regulation.

To cover generally a question of interpretation, of which one phase is dealt with in Regulations 49 and 50, but which arises in a great variety of circumstances—namely, the question whether, or to what extent, things not themselves carried on or done by an employer as a business or trade or for profit or gain, but carried on or done by him for his own private use, or as a part of, incidentally to, or for the purpose of another business or trade, are included in Schedule 1 of the Act—Regulation 52 has been passed. The most frequent examples of such things are building or repairing of buildings, warehousing or storage, and teaming or carting. If themselves carried on as a business, these are of course included in Schedule 1; but in a very great many cases they are carried on or done by the employer, not as a business or trade, but for his own private use, or as a part of, incidentally to, or for or for the purpose of another business or trade, and that business or trade may be one that is not included in Schedule 1 or one that is included in Schedule 1. As in keeping with the general intention of the Act, and as a convenient practical working principle, it is laid down by Regulation 52 that anything not itself carried on or done by the employer as a business or trade or for profit or gain, is to be included in Schedule 1 where, and only where, it is carried on or done as a part of or process in, or incidentally to, or for or for the purpose of an industry in Schedule 1. Thus the building or repairing of the employer's private dwelling-house or his grocery store will not be included in Schedule 1, but the building or repairing of his woollen mill will be included in Schedule 1. Similarly, teaming, cartage, warehousing or storage work done for the employer's private dwelling or for his grocery business will not be included in Schedule 1, but similar work done for his woollen mill will be included in Schedule 1. This Regulation, it must be remembered, has application only in cases where the person having the work or operations carried on or done is himself the employer of the workmen, and not in cases where he lets a contract for the doing of the work; in the latter case, of course, the contractor, if he employs workmen, will be under Schedule 1; as he is carrying on the work as a business or trade or for profit or gain he is not affected by the provisions of this Regulation. Nor does this Regulation over-ride any special provision to the contrary, such as the provision respecting elevators, or the provision respecting building which is dealt with in the next paragraph.

In order to cover employers who are in substance carrying on building as a business, it is provided by Regulation 53 that the building of a house or the construction of any part thereof by an employer who within three years prior thereto has built another house, and the construction of any building to sell or let, shall be included in Schedule 1. This Regulation, like the preceding one, has application only in cases where the owner is himself the employer of the workmen. Where the work is let to a contractor there is no need of a Regulation.

For greater certainty, it is declared by Regulation 63 that operations (such for instance as work in the woods or jobs of teaming, etc.), carried on by a person whose business is substantially farming are not under the operation of Part I if less than four workmen other than farm labourers are employed therein.
